AMUSEMENT NOTES.

The score of "The Red Mill" is by

Victor Herbert, who has long been accepted as the foremost American composer. He has written nineteen light operas, among them "MHe Modiste," Native Potatoes Are Lower "Babes in Toyland," "It Happened in Nordland," "The Tattooed Man," "The Serenade," "The Fortune Teller," "Babette," "The Wizard of the Nile," "The Idol's Eye," "Wonderland," "Dream City," "The Magic Knight," "The Sing ing Girl," "Dolly Dollars," etc., all of which have then big successes and many of which are still being played both in America and Europe. He is equally well known as a writer of schious music and is himself a virtouso of the biguest type. His symphonic poems are included in the programs of symphony orchestras all over the world, His concerts for the 'cello are the ac cepted standard of musicianship. When Oscar Hammerstein decided to have the grand opera written upon an American subject for production at his Manhattan opera house, Mr. Herbert was the one musician in this country worthy of this commission and he was unhesitatingly chosen. The score of "The Red Mill" is in Mr, Herbert's happiest vein and is replete with brilliant ensembles, tuneful numbers, every one of which has a different and distinct charm and appeal to the ear.
